A Guide Dog ～ 盲導犬の一生 ～

My name is Ben. I was a guide dog. I was born to help *¹ blind people. My life was very different from other dogs. I met a lot of people and had to say good-bye to a lot of people. Though there were a lot of hard things, I did my best to work as the eyes and *² walking stick for blind people. At first, I lived with my mother, brothers, and sisters, but this life was only for two months. I started to live with (①) family soon.

Two months after I was born, I lived with (ア) a puppy walker. A puppy walker is a volunteer who *³ raises dogs before the training to be a guide dog. During this period, I learned what people's life is (②). I sometimes took a train, went for a walk, or went shopping with my puppy walker. I visited several places. By doing so, I learned the rules to live in people's society. My puppy walker's family had four people: a mother, a father, and their two daughters. They were very kind to me and often played with me. Their daughters, Miku and Eri *⁴ treated me like their real brother. I wanted to live with them forever, but after ten months, I had to say good-bye to them. That day, they waved their hands crying, "Do your best. Be a great guide dog!" "Thank you, everyone. I love you, Miku and Eri. I hope (③) you again."

When I became one year old, the training for a guide dog started. In the training, I learned that it is a happy thing to live with people. When I was (④) to do what was taught, I was told "Good." When I was told "Good," I knew that I did well. I was taught a lot of things. At first, I thought that the training would be very hard for me, but (イ) it was not. I enjoyed it and learned a lot of important things as a guide dog every day.

I became two years old. After I graduated (⑤) the training school, I tried living with a blind woman for four weeks. We went out by train or bus and went for a walk. We did a lot of things together. We tried to get to know (⑥) for the future life.

After four weeks, I started to work as a guide dog at last. The blind woman who I helped was also very kind and friendly, like my puppy walker. I decided to work hard to help her as her eyes and walking stick for eight years (⑦) I became ten years old. She was fifty years old, and a musician. She could play the guitar very well. She often played the guitar for me. She loved me, and I loved her, too. We took a walk every day, but I sometimes took the wrong way. She said to me, "Don't worry. (ウ) It's OK." She was always *⁵ gentle to me.

Eight years passed, and I became ten years old. I had to say good-bye again and *⁶ retire from work as a guide dog. A dog that is ten years old is still young and can continue working. However, after finishing the work as a guide dog, we retire to live a happy life while we are still healthy. After that, we meet a new family again. We meet a new family three times in our life: a puppy walker, a blind person, and finally a volunteer who lives with us after we retire from work.

I got in a car and started for my third family's house. When the car stopped, two high school girls waved their hands in front of the house. They cried, "Ben, Ben." I was very (⑧). (エ) I soon realized who they were. I remembered their voices. "Ben, you have worked very hard for eight years. Next time we'll take care (⑨) you. We are very happy to become your family again. Thank you, Ben. We've been waiting for you for a long time!" After they said this, they hugged me. I said to myself, "Thank you for remembering me. Thank you for becoming my family again. I am the happiest guide dog in the world!"

(注) *¹blind 目の不自由な *²walking stick 杖 *³raise ～を育てる
 ⁴treat ～を扱う *⁵gentle 優しい *⁶retire 引退する
